ICE GLASS SCULPTING

Activity sheet · Playful

Ice glass sculpting is a cosy activity we hold in the glow of open fires.

The task is to carve your own ice glass from a block of ice – and finally enjoy a nice drink from it. It is a relaxed mingling activity with lots of laughter and creativity. The venue is decorated with burning torches, lanterns and fire baskets – a warming setting.

When it is time to sculpt, we hand out gloves, a small block of ice and special tools to each participant. A Puls guide is of course on hand for advice and guidance. The activity ends with a proud toast in the handmade glasses, and then the mingling in the glow of the flames can begin.

An activity that can actually be done all year round. Add-ons: ice bar, ice artist or a fire show with a professional fire juggler – ask for a quote.
