SLEDGE BUILDING

Activity sheet · Playful

Sled building is a refreshing activity we do when it is winter and there is plenty of snow!

By the light of burning fires and torches, the participants build fully working sleds. In about an hour each team builds its own sled, which will then be used in the thrilling sled race! This is where participants can really let their creativity flow and build team spirit.

When the sleds are finished, the teams present them for about 20 minutes at a sled show – with nothing but superlatives, of course! The best build and presentation are rewarded with a small but oh-so-important head start in the race itself!

But now it is time to prove it – will the sleds really withstand the G-forces in the bends? The rules are simple: first across the finish line wins.
