NERVES OF STEEL

Activity sheet · Indoor

Nerves of Steel is a fun and challenging indoor competition that everyone can take part in.

The participants are divided into teams that face the other teams in 12 different challenges. Each team picks one teammate per round to take on the other teams' challengers. After each challenge a new team member is chosen, so everyone gets to do at least two challenges during this hectic hour – which can be more than enough tension for most people!

The other participants are the audience and enthusiastic cheerleaders. Concentration, smartness and focus are three very useful qualities in this nerve-tingling activity.
