THE RADIO ACTIVITY

Activity sheet · Team building

Radioaktiviteten is a communication activity where clarity, trust, responsibility and involvement will be put to the test.

We start by asking: what characterises successful communication? Then we test it in reality. Using separate maps and communicating via walkie-talkies, the different parts of the team guide each other to various checkpoints. Fairly quickly the teams notice that communication is difficult – and at times it may even break down completely. A fun and different activity full of “aha” moments awaits, where cooperation is decisive.
